In this post we will show you how to create a watermark in Photoshop Elements. We show you how to take a screenshot of an image and how to add a watermark or logo to it. 1. Make a Screen Shot Fire up Photoshop Elements. You will need to do this in the root folder, not the one you want to watermark. If you want to select a small image, be sure to start in the root folder, not in the one you want to add a watermark to. 2. Add a Watermark Navigate to Create > Watermark. Enter the source and destination photo, choose an artboard from the artboard list and click OK. If you want to add more than one watermark, you need to select the images first and then add them to the batch. 3. Add a Watermark to a Selected Photo Select the photo you want to add a watermark to. Go to Select > Selection Brush, and use the crop tool to carefully select the area you want to watermark. Add a new layer above the selection, then press CTRL + J to copy the selection to the new layer. Press CTRL + V to paste the selection into the new layer. 4. Add a Watermark to a Selected Photo Using a Watermark Template Select the photo you want to add a watermark to. In the menu bar go to File > Place, and choose Watermark Template. Choose a template from the gallery, then click Place. The template you use affects how your watermark appears. For example, to add a patterned watermark, choose a template that has a pattern in it. 5. Change a Watermark's Appearance If you have more than one watermark or want to change its appearance, you need to select the first watermark and press CTRL + F to place it in the upper-left corner of the frame. Use the different controls on the toolbar to make any changes you want to make to the template: Select the edge of the image that you want to appear in the watermark. Select the parts of the template that you don't want to use. Lengthen or shorten the edges of the template with the selection tools. Adjust the transparency of parts of the template with the opacity tools a681f4349e

Tips for Adding Outdoor Space to Your Best Selling Home Building a home can be a lengthy process, and most homeowners don't want to waste time (and money) before having a suitable home to call their own. Unfortunately, building a home is not that easy, and this is even more true for homes that don't serve their purpose for the owners. Since this happens, then the owners start looking for homes that are more suited for their needs. The good thing is, they have the freedom to find the right home, and the perfect home is one that meets all of their needs and preferences. With that said, there are some tips for homeowners to make their homes even better, and some of these include adding outdoor space to their homes. Although this might be a simple tip, it has a great impact on the overall appearance and quality of the home, not to mention the comfort of the homeowners. Well, the good news is that there are many good reasons for adding outdoor space to a home, and these include the following. First and foremost, outdoor space offers the perfect opportunity for homeowners to relax and have fun outside. This is because when they are outside, they have plenty of opportunities to do the things they love to do with their family. Outdoor space also gives the homeowners an opportunity to focus on nature. Since the majority of homes are indoors, then these homes have limited opportunities for homeowners to enjoy nature. It is because of this, then homeowners have to focus on indoor activities such as watching TV and playing with their children. On the other hand, an outdoor space enables homeowners to go outside and enjoy nature without being bothered by the outside world. If the homeowners have an outdoor space, then they are assured that they will only spend their time in their comfortable surroundings, and not be bothered by other people. Lastly, outdoor space enables the homeowners to have more privacy. Since they are indoors, then they will only be disturbed by their family or friends when they are inside. However, if they have their own outdoor space, then their families and friends will only disturb them when they are outside and want to see them. With all these things said, the best way for homeowners to add outdoor space is to do some landscaping, and this includes adding firepits and cabana to their homes. There are many firepits that you can add to your home, but you should know the kind of firepit that will work best for your home.

KUALA LUMPUR, MALAYSIA - MARCH 20: Head coach Stan Drulis of Malaysia before the men's 20th Asian Beach Volleyball Championships 2019 at Sentosa Sports Complex on March 20, 2019 in Singapore. (Photo by Tarun Dey/MCT via Getty Images) Mitch Larkin is not the biggest headline in the global beach volleyball circuit, but he still deserves some recognition. The former Prime Minister of New Zealand came into the spotlight this week, not for being a star of the game, but for his famed patience and restraint. Drulis would have been tempted to blow his whistle when the Chinese players were faced with a short corner in the first game. Larkin, the No. 2 man, wisely settled for the long ball. Mitch Larkin may not have been the star of the show, but he was the glue that held the New Zealand men's team together during the Asian Beach Volleyball Championships. Coach Stan Drulis was eventually stripped of his coaching duties for his conduct towards his female partner Hayley Saunders, who missed a mandatory drug test. Krish (right) Wang Zhenwei, Jason (left) Chou, Erik (centre) Peter Wang While the incident made headlines around the world, most people knew nothing about the former federal politician, Mitch Larkin, who stepped in with a deft professionalism that few understand. How, for instance, did he know that the players would not be getting refilled water in their bottles? Or that Hayley Saunders had already been taken into custody earlier that day and was unlikely to play? Or that Drulis had been given 72 hours to prepare for the next round? The fact that Larkin met with Drulis the day before the game to discuss "sobriety" is pretty remarkable. Larkin, arguably the most studied and least noticeable man in the world, has been a national figure for over 30 years. He has twice held the position of Prime Minister of New Zealand and was a key witness in the famous Keating Five, a scandal that damaged the government of the day. He appears to be the living embodiment of patience. It's worth noting, of course, that Larkin's gesture was not just a public service to his teammates. His motives were his own. The Larkin's served as the hosts of the event and
