A porpose of discharge is to ensure that all the gas inside the tube flows out when the tube is closed. The flow of a liquid is the same as that of a gas which is in fact a gas at certain pressure and temperature. The flow-rate of liquid is directly proportional to the cross-sectional area of the pipe. Until my first chemistry class, I knew nothing about chemistry. I don't like chemistry. I didn't think that chemistry was worth taking. Then a teacher showed us my first chemistry lesson, and I realized that I liked chemistry. My teacher told me "When you're a senior in high school, you'll probably be in my chemistry class." It was the best advice I have ever received. I discovered today the difference between the class 7 and class 8, this is an amazing difference.
