Although Adobe Dreamweaver is not a photo-editing tool, it can be used to create web pages that include images and that can be deployed to the Web. Although you can't edit images in Dreamweaver, you can add images to your website for free using the Image tool. See Chapter 16 for more on creating web pages. Photoshop Elements Elements is a free version of the Photoshop program that performs basic image tasks. To get started, you can choose the Browse icon to start a batch or manual import, and you can choose to open an image from the folder location that was used to import it or from the local drive. The Import/Page Setup dialog box appears, in which you set up the page size, resolution, and orientation. The buttons at the bottom of the dialog box are used to access additional options, such as an Auto-Rotate option, and a Print preview button. If you choose OK, the image appears in a new document. Once you've completed your work and saved it, Elements places the image into a File Cabinet that's named after the original filename. You can display all the images in your collection by selecting the File Cabinet icon and selecting the desired image from the list of images you have in your collection. You can edit images using the tools that are included with the program. Figure 10-7 shows a few image tools. Figure 10-7: Photoshop Elements' tools include many different functions. Note that Elements is a bit different from Photoshop in the way that you import images. Photoshop opens a dialog box to prompt you for the source image, where as Elements accepts an image from the file location where it was imported from. Photoshop has a few limitations when it comes to working with large images or multiple images, and those limitations are no longer present in Elements. For example, when you open an image from the file location, you get a menu of options for resizing the image that includes converting it to black and white, increasing the magnification, and even, under Windows 8, using the new Edge tool for objects that are out of sight. Another limitation in Photoshop is that images are imported into a new document for editing, whereas in Elements, an image is edited on top of its original. Lightroom Lightroom is a program that's designed to be a streamlined photo-management tool for photographers. It is designed to take care of image importing and organizing, editing, tagging, and

Days after he addressed the nation about the death of Aarushi Talwar, parents of her alleged murderers Vishal and Nupur Talwar failed to turn up before Mumbai Metropolitan Court even as a case was registered against them for the death of their daughter. Their whereabouts are yet to be traced. The murder case against the parents of the three teenagers accused of killing Aarushi Talwar and her friend Hemraj within seconds of their arrival at the Leopold Cafe in Central Mumbai, was mentioned before the court only on Monday. The hearing was adjourned till the next hearing on November 2 as the parents failed to appear. "The parents did not appear before the court. They are busy with their lives and neither they nor their lawyers appear to be interested in the case." The court has now ordered strict action against the parents for their disappearance. The parents' non-appearance and their attempt to get bail in the two FIRs, has led to several legal actions against them in the Supreme Court and Bombay High Court. There were two FIRs registered on November 14. The first FIR against the parents was filed at the Oshiwara police station on November 15 and stated that "the parents of the deceased called the deceased after her house at 9.20 pm on the night of the incident, from where they reached Leopold Cafe". It added that the accused got in the vehicle with the deceased and Hemraj. The second FIR was registered at the Hinjewadi police station on November 17 after the parents approached the police alleging that the case was fabricated against them. After being produced before the court, the parents, Vishal and Nupur Talwar told the judges that they were not allowed to talk to their children by the police and hence were left with no choice but to run away from the police station. They also said that when they were produced before the court, they didn't know that they were being asked to turn over files and other documents to the court. "We have done nothing illegal. All we want is to protect our children, that's all." Ms Meena Kumari, counsel for Nupur Talwar, said her client was not allowed to speak to her and her husband. She added that the court has directed her to call the parents on Wednesday to explain their position.

In a statement read out before the court,
