“We were pleased to be able to capture all the intimate details of the 22 real-life FIFA players’ movements during a complete high-intensity football match,” commented Peter Hinton, EA SPORTS FIFA Director of Technology. “This technology has been built by some of the smartest engineers in football, and it really provides our players with a level of authenticity never seen before.” FIFA 22 also features an improved player intelligence engine that uses physics to make players behave like real footballers, on or off the pitch. It allows you to master your playing style and progress to a level where you can truly control the pitch. A vastly improved animation system allows the game’s physics to be driven by the player’s movements, while increasing the responsiveness of player actions and reactions. “Whether you’re controlling a defender on the ball or a goalkeeper stretching for a save, FIFA 22 has even more emotion and detail,” added Hinton. As the games official studio with FIFA, EA SPORTS is staffed with real-life footballers to give gamers further insight into the teams and personalities of the FIFA World Stars. This season’s team includes: Arsène Wenger – Arsenal David Beckham – LA Galaxy Leonardo Bonucci – Juventus Andrés Iniesta – Barcelona Vicente Del Bosque – Real Madrid Giorgio Chiellini – Juventus Toni Kroos – Real Madrid Sergio Ramos – Real Madrid Xabi Alonso – Real Madrid Alex Morgan – Orlando Pride Steven Gerrard – Los Angeles Galaxy Andrea Pirlo – Juventus Oscar Schmidt – New York City FC Michael Owen – Liverpool Carlos Tevez – Boca Juniors Diego Forlán – Atlético de Madrid Raul – Real Madrid Emmanuel Petit – AS Monaco Paul Pogba – Juventus Mesut Özil – Arsenal Andrea Pirlo The following is a list of improvements to the FIFA 22 player intelligence engine. Intelligent Player Interactions We have dramatically increased the responsiveness of player on ball interactions, like chipping the ball, running with the ball, receiving the ball, as well as defense and attack actions. Shoot, Chase & Tackle We’

Features Key:

- FIFA 22 includes the first ever update of the “this year in review” Mode: The Coach. This is an all-encompassing career mode where players can take their perfect team with them wherever they decide to go. In addition to the new “this year in review” Mode there is the Player Career mode, and some new features are included too, such as propulsion, medicine bottles, speed bonuses, weather and fatigue and goal celebrations.
- FIFA season mode and the all-new “this year in review” mode combined.
- Brand new meaning to the term ‘home advantage,’ as players can choose between real stadiums and remodeled versions from around the world. The remodeled stadiums will reflect your real-life surroundings, offering alternate atmospheres such as wooden floors and natural ceilings that fit in with the theme. The custom stadiums also boast upgraded kits and on-screen flags to guide your on-pitch action.
- FIFA 22 built for FIFA Mobile and FIFA Online Seasons.
- Sync FIFA Ultimate Team API data between the different platforms for more in-depth competitions.
- Brand new FIFA Ultimate team cards, blocks and player roles.
- Brand new context-sensitive cards, blocks and player roles; as well as whole categories.
- Brand new game mode cards for Ultimate team
- Additional in-game user interaction features. Players can now share individual gameplay goals, aerial controls, and player ratings from the likes of Kiss Bunt, Futgraph, Statszone and the FIFA Visual Zone.
- Brand new Animation Engine. With the new animation engine, player likeness are now able to be more natural and life-like during one-on-one, mutual and off-ball action.

- Brand new Matchday engine. Enhance communication during the match through a real-time chat and visual cues to add atmosphere to the pitch.
- Added Feelings technology, which allows the player's mood and heart to be tracked throughout the game to affect his performance.
- Brand new Vision Based Control. The players can now see even the subtleties during one-on-ones, and the AI is better at building around the ball and keeping it in play.
