My Practical Physics for Class 1-8: Class Notes. it & move on. Mooghan says he can go through me, but I block his leg and stab his side. He goes for my neck, I block and stab his leg. My knee hits his head. We both see things through eyes, but then the pain comes in, and the world narrows. I am in the woods next to my car and Lil Mo is standing beside me. He is crying. And I am ready to die, like I have been for the last few years. There is a tree right beside me. I try to push him away. "Dad.. I'm sorry," he starts, "I knew I should have left you alone. But I wanted a new mom and dad. I knew it was wrong, but I couldn't stop myself." I have seen the future. I have seen this day, this moment. I have lived it. I cannot escape it. He climbs up into me. I lift my arms to comfort him, and he hugs me. "It's ok," I whisper into his hair. I kiss his head. It is the first time, but it will never be the last. Why did I come back? Maybe it was to save my son, to save those I love, or maybe I just wanted to die. I close my eyes, I was never good at thinking. When I opened my eyes again, he was gone. I got out of the car, and found a nearby tree with branches to break his neck, but I couldn't do it. I tried to run after him, I couldn't go farther than he could. I searched for him for hours, I was in shock, I was not thinking clearly. I was haunted by him. I thought I could save him, but I couldn't.
