FIFA 22 Ultimate Team Details Features NEW ULTIMATE TEAM X-Factor: Developed in collaboration with FIFA legend David Beckham, X-Factor is a brand-new squad movement system which reflects the style, balance and speed of real-life football. This new control system combines quick passes, dribbling and overlapping runs into a new fluid system that captures the desire of skilled players to constantly move the ball, especially when under pressure. It makes FUT teams appear natural and fast-paced, with new skill animations, an improved ball contact and ball flying system. New dribbling system: Players can now combine both feet to use their aggressive speed and skill, in addition to moving in and around the pitch with full support from one or both feet. New ball control system and flight: New moves also include a fast ball control system, including a new artificial intelligence (AI) that makes it feel more like the real thing. Player Reactions and Post-Match Analysis: Players now react more naturally to events, where small reactions and reactions to others on the field occur as a result of the match. The moves of real players are a key component of this new system, meaning the player will now move naturally and react more appropriately to certain actions, such as a long pass
