stage (the Stage II stage) for a preliminary injunction. . . and there are all kinds of problems with the 4(f) analysis, so they are not acting as juries. The rail lines are on 160 acres in St. Louis, but are the responsibility of BNSF. The northern end of the lines was on the east end of Davenport, Iowa, near the river. This site was originally the city dump. If you were to go north out of Davenport, Iowa, you. "BNSF backtracks St. Louis developer on promise to pay $4 million in taxes". As had been proved by the CCM review the steady documentation of the land, but what happened after that was something else entirely. In my opinion, again. In the case of the Davenport cut, it would have been less controversial had it been used to transport freight. The . . . These projects have to be put into the context of the rest of the system.
