It is a complex technique with paid apps being the major recipient. The iPhone and iPad have had a limited preview. The Mac App store has exploded with apps and using a guest account is easy. The launch of applications for Apple TV and iTunes movies are simple to use. Up until the point that I have written this post I have been fairly pleased with my Mac App store experience so far. From all appearances the Mac App store has been successful and viable. This is not the case when we look at the numbers. On Mac OS X the ratio of number of applications in the Mac App store to iPhone apps on the App Store is a just beyond one to one. This indicates that the App store is a lead in to the Apple TV and iTunes content markets. There will be over 8.8 million App Store applications by the end of the year. Let's look at the Mac App store situation. On Mac OS X there are 561,367 unique applications in the App store. This is great for functionality and convenience. On top of this there is another 628,419 available applications. The Mac App store has 57.5% of the installed base. This means that those customers that are loyal to Mac will have
